SPRING SUMMER 17

SEPTEMBER, 2016 - VANCOUVER
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WEARABLE WILD BEAUTY HANDMADE LEAVES, BLOSSOMS, AND BEES ADORN VANCOUVER-BASED JEWELLERY COMPANY'S NEWEST COLLECTION.

Fairy-tale romance meets festival style in Woodland, the Spring/Summer 2017 jewellery collection from Hunt Of Hounds. Inspired by the wild beauty of the Canadian landscape, the items in the collection are expertly detailed to combine botanical motifs with modern wearability. Each handmade piece conjures visions of rosy-cheeked, folktale heroines and everyday enchantresses.

The new range of rings, necklaces, earrings, and bracelets is adorned with intricately crafted apple blossoms, leaves, thistles, and honeycomb. For designer, Sabrina Johnson, the collection grew from her introduction to the changing seasons: "Last year, I experienced my first Canadian spring, and I was inspired by the sense of magic and anticipation that it brings. I wanted to capture that impression and create pieces that would give our customers that same feeling," said Sabrina. The wonderment of spring is expressed in the feature item of the collection, the May Queen Headpiece - a crown assembled by hand from individual leaves and flowers.

While staying on pace with the brand's aesthetic of future-heirloom design, Hunt Of Hounds SS17 is on trend with embellished, Romantic, and eccentric styles seen on runways this year. Woodland will be available in retail outlets for spring 2017.

Based in Vancouver, Canada, Hunt Of Hounds is the vision of wife and husband team, Sabrina and Cole Johnson. Every Hunt Of Hounds piece is designed and crafted from scratch in their house /workshop using quality precious metals and genuine gemstones.
